MY JOURNEY STORY:

The Orcas Island Historical Museum is proud to be hosting Journey Stories, a Smithsonian traveling exhibition, in the summer of 2010. The exhibit focuses on the role of transportation in shaping American culture and history. All Americans have Journey Stories-of their families making their way to America, of how they came to where they now live, or of an adventure while traveling through the USA. If you have an interesting Journey Story, please share it below. We plan to include all submitted stories as part of the local component of the exhibit.
